Owen Dudley, Jr.

“At the end of the day, my profession is not so much about “numbers” as it is about people. My clients are individuals with distinct emotions, needs and goals, as well as risk tolerance. My objective is to help them make the best decisions for themselves and their families.”

- Financial Professional holding Series 7, 63 licenses
- Accredited Asset Management Specialist (AAMS) from the College of Financial Planning.

Owen F. Dudley, Jr. joined HJ Sims as a Vice President. He has been in the financial services industry since 1995 and has more than 20 years' worth of experience. Before becoming a financial professional, Owen was a marketing, public relations and product development consultant for banks and financial institutions in the Southeast. In late 1994, he was recruited by Raymond James & Associates and began his practice in early 1995. Owen was with McDonald Investments, Inc., for 10 years and then moved his practice to A.G. Edwards in Naples, Florida. He then was employed with Wells Fargo Advisors. Most recently, Owen was part of the team at a local advisory practice at Westport Resources, LLC. He is also a licensed insurance agent and authorized to sell insurance products of various insurance companies. Owen earned his Bachelor of Fine Arts at East Carolina University. He also holds his Series 7, 63 and Life/Health Insurance licenses.
