“Relationships are based on trust. Trust is the currency of the marketplace, and once lost is almost impossible to fully regain.”

Nicholas “Nick” Squitieri has been employed in the capital markets business for 18 years. Beginning his career in the back office, Nick has succeeded in many roles, including: administration, trading, underwriting, and sales at firms like Advest, Banc One, Prudential, and ABN AMRO/Lasalle Bank.

Nick firmly believes in the value of establishing relationships with clients and employees of the firm. His philosophy is that solid internal relationships are a key component of excellent client service.

Nick is a firm believer in the power of compound interest. He also believes in continuous education and improvement, stating, “No one should ever stop investing in him/herself. In our time, the world will change more during a year than it used to transform within a decade, and more in a decade than a century. It is imperative to keep pace or ahead.”

A graduate of Pace University (B.A. in business and accounting), and The Zicklin School at Baruch College (M.S. in finance), Nick holds his Series 7 and 63 licenses, as well as a current CPA license (CT). Nick resides in Ridgefield, CT, along with his wife and two children. He enjoys automotive preservation and Little League Baseball.
